

OC 28-69, 62ND COMPANY GRADUATION 3 SEPTEMBER 1969

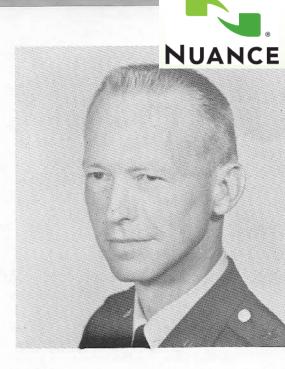

GEORGE I. FORSYTHE
Major General
Commandant, USAIS
And
Commanding General
Fort Benning

SIDNEY M. BERRY
Brigadier General
Assistant Commandant, USAIS

Colonel Piper was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant, Infantry upon his graduation from the University of New Hampshire in 1941. He came to Fort Benning for the officers basic course and after nearly a year as a platoon leader in a training company and an anti-tank company in California he returned to Fort Benning for Airborne training. He joined the 50th Parachute Infantry Regiment in August 1942 and served in six European campaigns with this unit as a platoon leader, company commander, regimental adjutant and regimental S2. It was with the 505th that he made 4 combat jumps in Europe.

From 1949 to 1952 Colonel Piper was at Fort Campbell, Kentucky as a battalion commander, regimental executive officer and division plans officer in the 11th Airborne Division.

After graduating from the US Army War College in 1959 Col. Piper served for 3 years on the Joint Staff of the Caribbean Command in the Canal Zone. Again returning to the states in 1962 he became director of the Airborne Service Test Division at Fort Bragg and left this research and development assignment in 1965 when he assumed command of the 2nd Training Brigade at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

Brigade at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.
In 1967 Col. Piper joined MACV in Vietnam and was deputy in the training directorate and later assistant senior to the Vietnamese II Corps Commander at Pleiku.

On 1 July 1968 he assumed command of the newly organized Candidate Brigade here at the US Army Infantry School.

ROBERT M. PIPER
Colonel, Infantry
Commanding Officer
The Candidate Brigade

ARMY INFANTRY SCHOOL MISSION OF THE OFFICER CANDIDATE PROGRAM OF THE UNITED STATES

"To develop selected personnel to be Second Lieutenants of the Army of the United States who will be capable of performing duties appropriate to their grade in the Infantry units, and who, with a minimum of additional branch training, will be prepared to serve as Second Lieutenants of other branches designated by the Department of the Army. The secondary mission is to serve as a basis for mobilization as the needs of the service require."

The Officer Candidate Course at the United States Army Infantry School is a period of transition, training, and leadership evaluation for selected enlisted men and warrant officers who have demonstrated leadership potential, which prepares them to assume the increased responsibilities of a commissioned officer. To accomplish this the Officer Candidate Program is divided into three distinct phases: Basic, Intermediate, and Senior.

The basic phase is one in which there is extensive supervision by the Tactical Officer in any and everything the Officer Candidate does. The Officer Candidate is given the basic rudiments of leadership and the emphasis is on leadership potential rather than demonstrated leadership.

The intermediate phase is one of less direct supervision by the Tactical Officer over the Officer Candidate. In connection with this decrease in supervision is an increase of command responsibility. Emphasis during this phase is now on demonstrated performance of leadership potential.

The Senior phase is the culmination of all efforts to create a high quality Infantry officer. In this phase there is little supervision by the Tactical Officer; however, the Senior Officer Candidate must assume greater responsibilities with emphasis on demonstrated performance. In many instances the Senior Officer Candidate might be considered a "Third" Lieutenant.

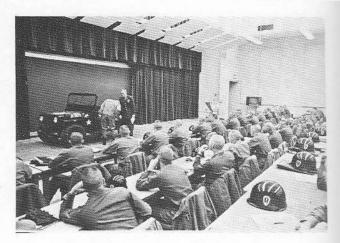

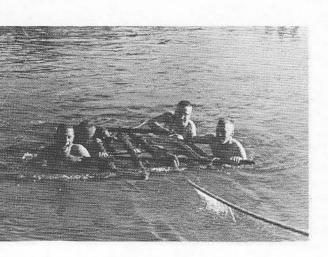

HISTORY OF THE INFANTRY OFFICER CANDIDATE SCHOOL FORT BENNING, GEORGIA

The idea for an Officer Candidate School for infantry was conceived in June 1938 when a plan for an officer training program was submitted to the Chief of Infantry by Brig. Gen. Asa L. Singleton, Commandant of the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. No action was taken until July of 1940, at which time Brig. Gen. Courtney Hodges, Assistant Commandant of the Infantry School, submitted a revised plan. This new program went into effect 1 year later, in July of 1941, when the first officer candidate class began. The course lasted 13 weeks and was limited to warrant officers and enlisted men with at least 6 months of service. Subsequently other branches adopted the idea and established their own OCS.

Gen. Omar Bradley, who became Commandant of the Infantry School in March of 1941, established the principles and standards of discipline and leadership that are still in effect today. The honor code, administered by the candidates themselves, was also installed under the guidance of General Bradley.

The purpose of the subjection of candidates to the rigorous OCS program was best explained by General Bradley when he said: "Early in the course the fact must be brought out that these candidates should stop thinking as enlisted men, and think as officers. As enlisted men, someone else worries about plans and about looking after the men as officers they must plan and think of their responsibilities. The discipline must be of a very much higher type than that of an enlisted company.

At the beginning of the program, classes were reporting at 5-week intervals. World War II, however, brought about an increase in the need for officers, and classes were stepped up. The phrase "90-day wonder" became accepted military terminology, and at Fort Benning alone more than 100,000 candidates were enrolled in 448 officer candidate classes from July 1941 to May 1947. Over 67,000, some 67 percent, completed the course and were commissioned. It was by far the biggest and fastest "commissioning job" ever attempted by an army. But quality was not sacrificed for quantity. On battlefields from Anzio to Okinawa, one thing was apparent: the "90-day wonder" had what it takes.

With the end of World War II the Army's need for officers diminished, and the OCS for all branches was transferred to Fort Riley, Kans., where it became part of the Ground General School.

But the outbreak of the Korean conflict caused an urgent need for trained combat leaders and many of the branches reactivated their OCS in 1951. Most of these were deactivated around the end of the Korean conflict. The Infantry OCS, however, remained in operation. Late in 1965 the Vietnam conflict again created a need for officers, and many branches reactivated their Officer Candidate School.

Basically, the Infantry OCS is conducted as it was in 1941. However, the subject matter presented has been changed considerably to keep pace with the changes in organization and tactics employed by our modern Army. The system is designed to place the candidate under physical, mental, and emotional stress to stimulate, as closely as possible, the stress and fatigue of combat. Only in this way can the candidate receive an evaluation as to his ability to work and react under such pressure. The officer who is a product of OCS is the type officer who should make it possible for every unit commander to say: "Send me more graduates like the ones I have now!"

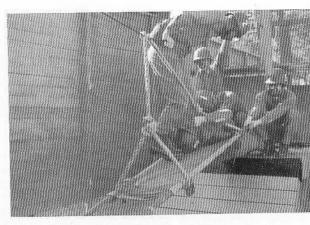

Leadership Reaction Course

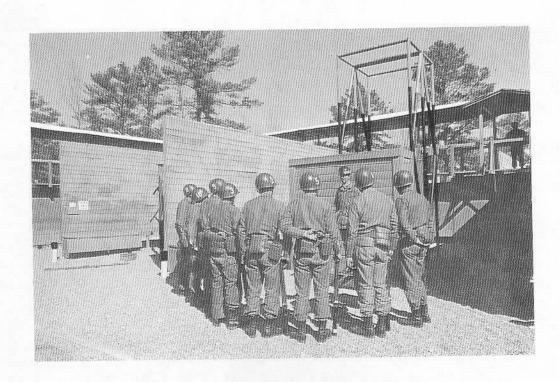

ingenuity. The course is designed to require the Officer Candidate to exercise leadership traits in solving situational problems, thereby providing him and the instructor with a basis for identifying and improving his leadership weaknesses.

Each Candidate is given the opportunity to be the leader of his team. He must analyze the situation, formulate plans, and then direct the accomplishment of his mission within a specified time.

The course involves land and water situations and there are times when the "most obvious ways" are "dampened . . ."

TACTICS

The primary mission of the Infantry Officer Candidate Course is to produce qualified Lieutenants of Infantry. To attain this goal over fifty percent of the Officer Candidate Program is devoted to combined arms tactics.

The basic rudiments of leadership from the smallest unit tactics, the rifle squad, to the larger company and Infantry Team Tactics, along with "School Solutions" are thoroughly discussed in classroom instruction followed by long hours of practical field exercise. The officer candidate is placed in tactical situations and given the opportunity to apply his knowledge of tactics. He soon learns that without a sound knowledge of Infantry tactics and proper utilization of supporting elements, the mission cannot be accomplished without the needless loss of lives and material.

1/66 Inf.

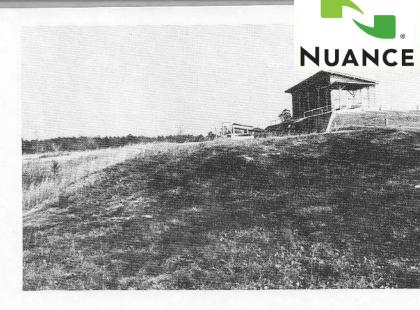

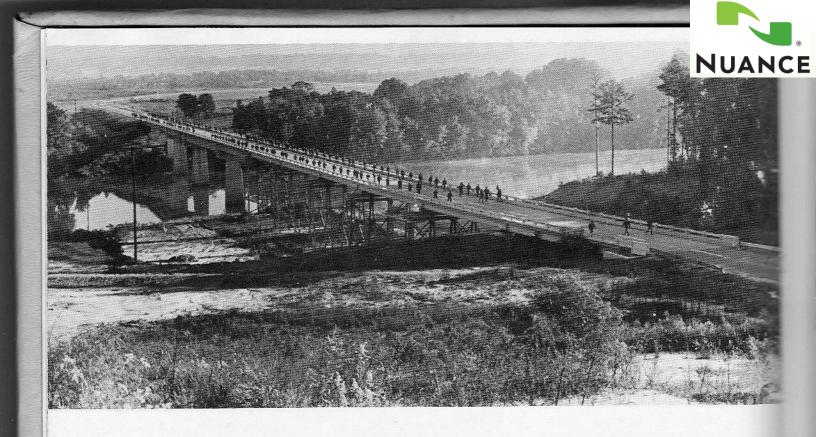

It has been said that if you get lost on a night problem and find a hill-top without a set of bleachers on it, you are no longer in the Fort Benning Military Reservation. Former OCS candidates have been known to avoid football games for years following their Infantry School training because of the necessity of watching them from bleachers. Some have also been known to keep a miniature bleacher at the foot of their bed to look at before going to sleep at night; bleachers are universally known for their soporific effect.

The truth is that the majority of instruction given to candidates is conducted in the field on topics with which the Infantry leader must be intimately familiar. Careful location of the bleacher sights allows candidates to view company operations, a tank platoon in the attack, or adjustment of artillery fire.

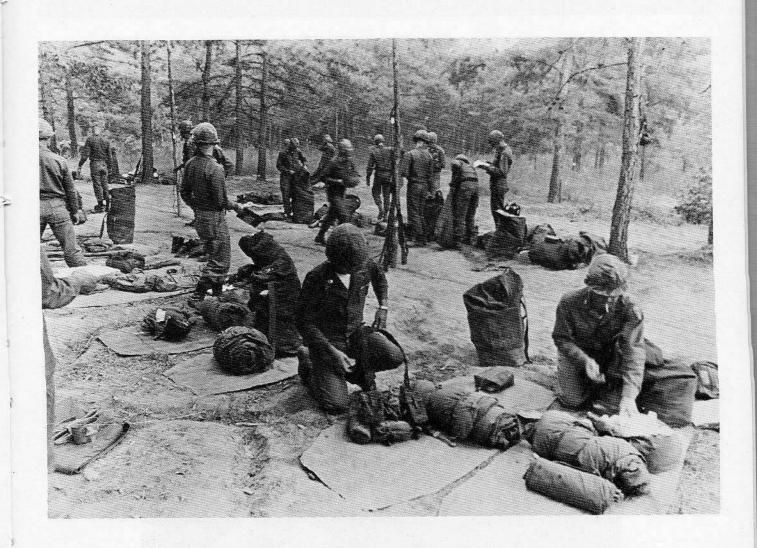

Administrative NUANCE Bivouac

After four weeks of being garrison soldiers, the OC's were given the opportunity of living out in the field and of communing with nature. They were able to experience the various problems encountered by soldiers when setting up a bivouac area and they learned that proper military ceremonies still had a place in the field. Traditionally, the OC's made a forced march from Georgia to Alabama before making camp.

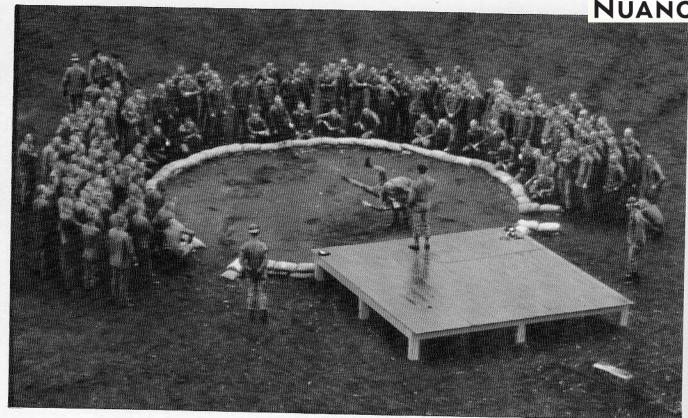

Administrativ NUANCE Bivouac

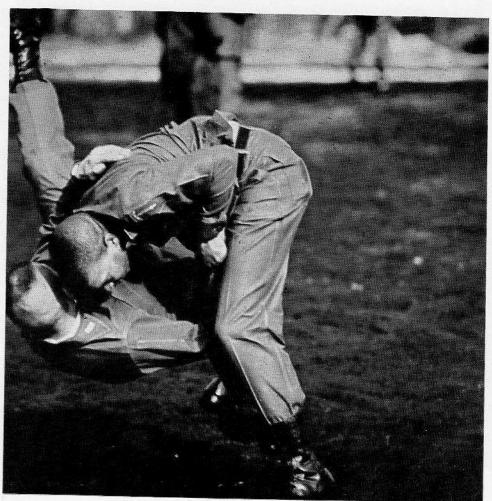

After four weeks of being garrison soldiers, the OC's were given the opportunity of living out in the field and of communing with nature. They were able to experience the various problems encountered by soldiers when setting up a bivouac area and they learned that proper military ceremonies still had a place in the field. Traditionally, the OC's made a forced march from Georgia to Alabama before making camp.

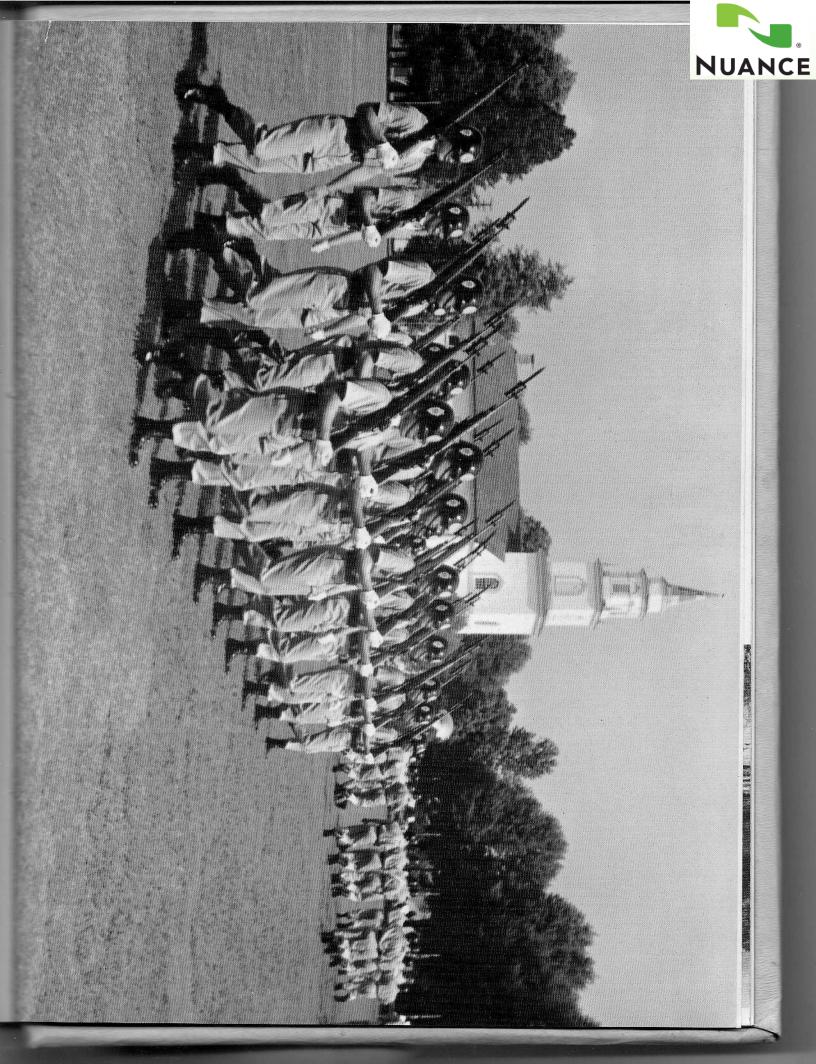

Hand to Hand

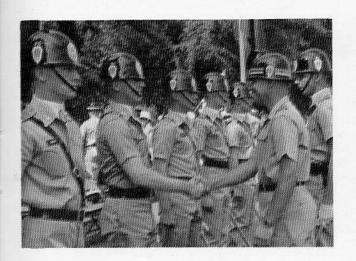

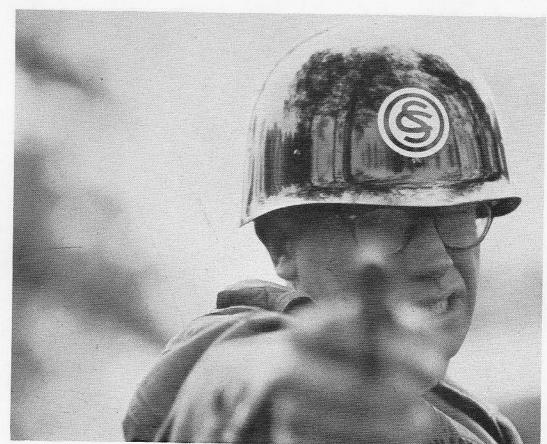

BLUE DAY

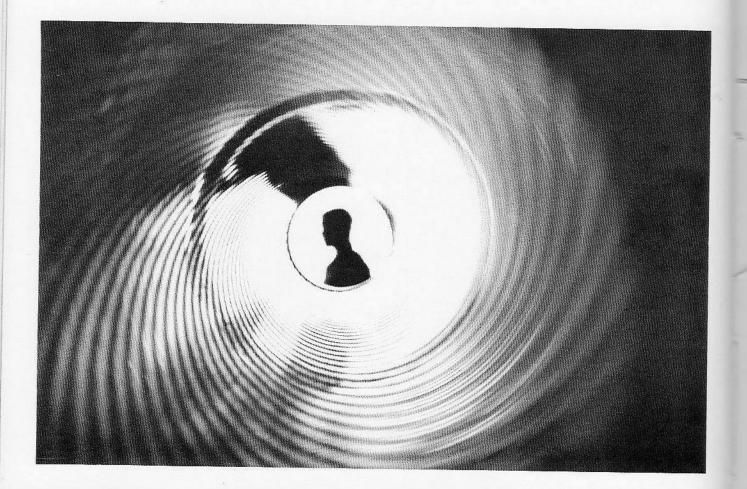

WEAPONS

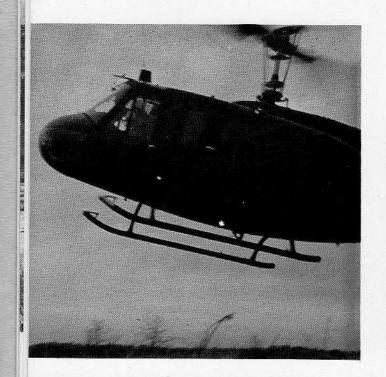

As in any profession, the skilled worker has certain "tools of his trade". For the Infantryman the tools are many weapons which vary from small caliber to the larger sophisticated types. During weapons training the officer candidate learns not only how to fire, but the mechanical characteristics and capabilities of individual weapons as well.

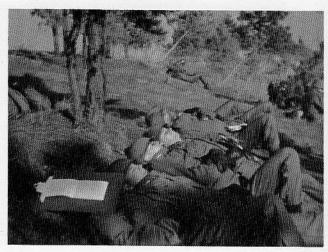

Proficiency is the key to handling all weapons organic to Infantry units. As a potential platoon leader, the officer candidate must learn to operate and be able to teach his men the steps necessary to maintain proficiency. Without such knowledge the tools of combat are useless.

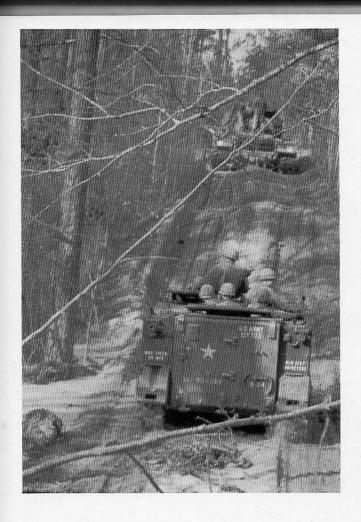

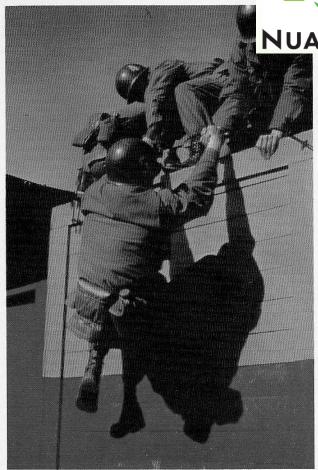

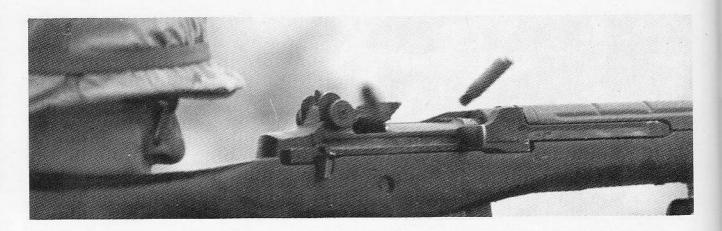

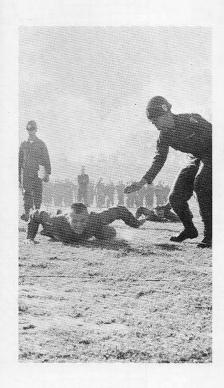

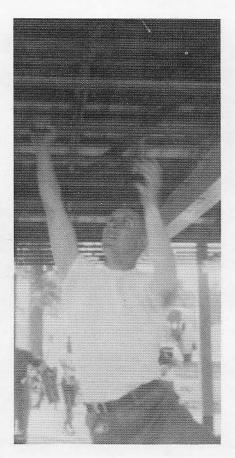

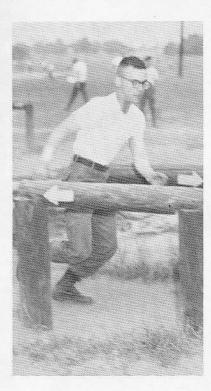

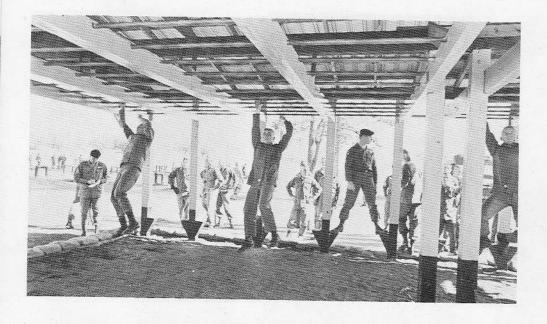

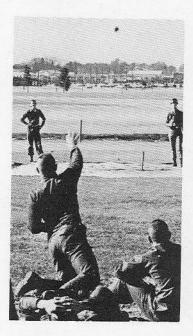

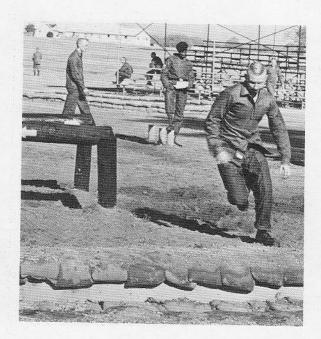

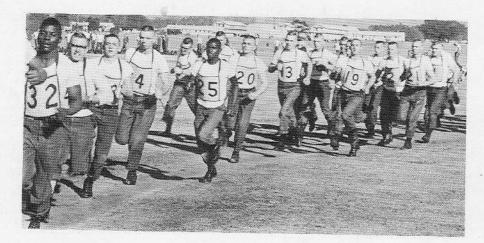

NUANCE

						2007	N		1	l	JAN
		POINTS		40-YARD CRAWL		LADDER	DODGE, RUN AND JUMP			THROW	MILE RUN
	-	100		3	7	6	21	0	t	36	6 00-6 02
	99		-		75				T	35	6 03-6 05
	97		2	4	73				+	34	6 06-6 08
	96				72		31.5		1		6 12-6 14
-	95		2	5	71		21.5		+	33	6 15-6 17
EXCELLENT	93				69				+	32	6 21-6 23
EL	92		26		68 67		-		T	31	6 24 6 26
EXC	-	90		+	66	-	22.0		+	30	6 27-6 29
	8	_		コ	65				T		6.34-6.37
	88		27		63				29		6 38-6 41
	86				.62				28		6 42-6 45
	85 84		28	+	60		22.5		F	_	6 50-6 53
	83				59				27		6 54-6 57 6 58-7 01
	82		29		58				26		7.02-7.05
8	80			+	57 56		23.0		25		7 06-7 09
	79		30		55 54						7 14 7 17
8	78 77		-	+	53				2	4	7 18-7 21 7 22-7 25
	76		31		52				23		7 26-7 29
	75 74		-	+	51		23.5		-		7 30-7 33
	73		32.		49				22		7 34-7 37 7 38-7 41
1	72			1	48				21		7 42 7 45
l	70		33		46		240		20		7 46-7 49 7 50-7 53
1	69 68			T	45						7 54-7 57
ŀ	67		34		44		-		19		7 58-8 01 8 02-8 05
7	66				42				18	9	8 06-8 09
	65 64		35	+	41		24.5				8 10 8 13
	63	_		1	39				17		8 14-8 17 8 18-8-21
į	62			+	38				16		8 22-8 25
	60		36	$^{+}$	37 36		25.0		15		.8 26-8 29 8 30-8 33
1000	59 58			•	35				14		8 34-8 37
1	57		37		34				13		8 38-8 41 8 42-8 45
	56				32		25.5		-		8 46 8 49
	55		38	_	31				12		8 50-8 53
	53	\pm	-	1	29				11	+	8 54 8 57 8 58 9 01
	100	52			28	F	26.0	1		1	9 02-9 05
Ì	50	†	40	-	26	H		+	10	+	9 06-9 09
1	49	+	41		25		26.5	1		1	9 14-9 17
Ì	47	t	43	+-	2.3	-	20.5	+		+	9 18-9 21
I	46		44		22			1	В	1	9 26-9 29
ł	45		46		15	-	270	+	-	+	9 30 9 33 9 34-9 37
ŀ	43	_	47		9		-8	İ		1	9 38-9 41
ŀ	41	_	48		12		27.5		7		9 42 9 45
l	40		50		16						9 50 9 53
ŀ	39	+	51	P	5	ं	28.0	F		Ŧ	9 54 9 57
t	37		53	1	4		-	t	-	+	9 58-10 01
ŀ	36		54 55	L			28.5	I	6	1	10 06 10 09
t	34		56	-	3		-	+		+	10 10-10 13
F	33		57 58	1	2	2	90	F		1	10 18-10 21
t	31		59	-	,	2	95	+	5	+	10 22-10 25
ŀ	30 29		60	F	10		30.0				10 30-10 33
t	28		62	Ľ	_			+	i	+	10 34-10 37
L	27	-	63		9	3	0.5			T	10 42-10 45
H	25		54	-	, 1	3	31.0	1	4	+	10 46-10 49
F	24	-	56					F		1	10 54-10 57
H	22		57		7		11.5	H	-	╀	10 58 11 01
L	21		59	6	5	:	32.0		3	1	11.06-11.09
	19	•	70		+		2.5	H		F	11 10-11 13
	18	-	72			93	100			t	11 14-11 17
	17		73	4	1		30	F	2	F	11 22-11 25
	15		75	3	1	3	3.5	-	4	+	11 26-11 29
	14	-	76		T		24.5	F		I	11.34-11.37
8	13	1	77	2	+		34.0	-	_	+	11 38-11 41
	11	7	9	1	1	3	4.5		1	1	11 46 11 49
	10	_	0		+		50			+	11 50-11 53
į	8	8	2		1				Ξ		11 58-12 01
7		8	3		+	-	5.5	_			12 02-12 05
Š	5	8			1	3	60	-		r	12:06:12:09
	3	8			1	-	6.5			F	12:14:12:17
	2	8			1	3	J.5			-	12:18:12:21
8	1	8			1	3	70		No.		12 26-12 29
											1

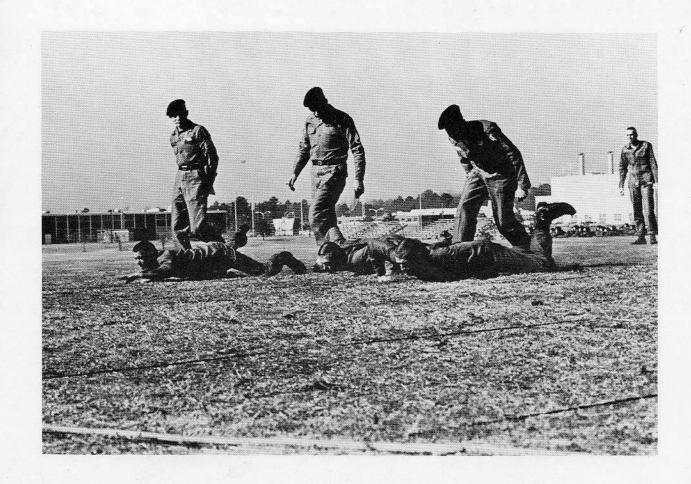

Physical Combat Proficiency Test

The Physical Combat Proficiency Test (PCPT) is used to measure the agility, strength, stamina, and coordination developed in OC's by their Tactical Officers. It consists of five events, each worth a maximum of 100 points. In the first event, the forty yard low-crawl, the participant must maintain chest to hip contact with the ground at all times. The next three events may be run in any order. In the dodge, run, and jump, a ditch and four hurdle course must be negotiated four times. The grenade throw consists of two practice and five record throws at a target 90 feet away. One to eight points are awarded depending on proximity to the target. In the horizontal ladder the particieach rung and traverse as many bars within pant must suspend his total weight from each rung and traverse as many bars within a one minute time limit as possible. The final event is the mile run.

00-6 02 103-6 05

26-6-08 39-6-11 12-6-14 15-6-17 16-6-20 21-6-23 24-6-26 27-6-29

05-7 09 0-7 13 4-7 17 8-7 21 22-7 25 25-7 29 30-7 33 34-7 37 38-7 41 42-7 45

34.8.37 38.8.41 42.8.45 46.8.49 50.8.53 54.8.57 58.9.01 52.9.05

05-10-09 10-10-13 4-10-17 10-10-21 12-10-25 12-10-29 10-10-33 14-10-37 13-10-41 14-10-45 16-10-49

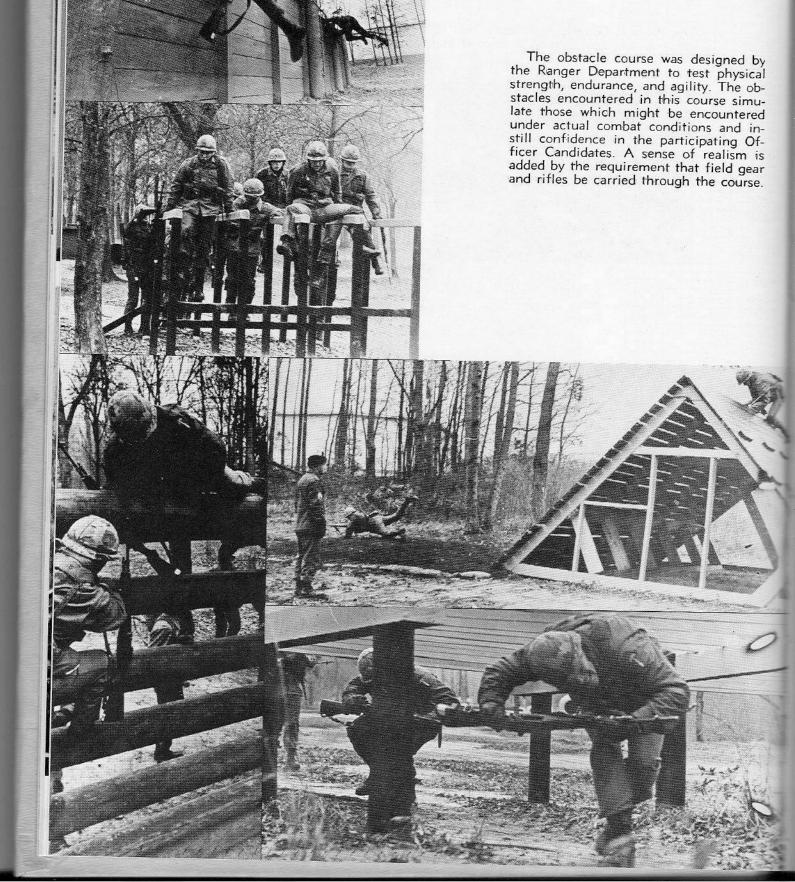

2-11 05 06-11 09 06-11 13 4-11 17 16-11 21 22-11 29 90-11 33 34-11 37 38-11 41

42-11.45 45-11.49 50-11.53 54-11.57 58-12.01 62-12.05 66-12.09 2-10-12.13 2-14-12.17

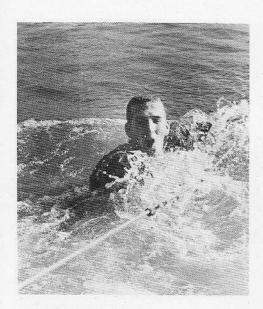

22-12 25 2 26 12 29

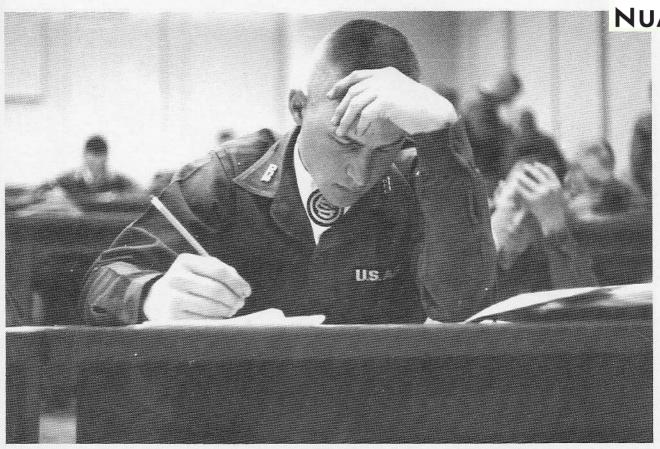

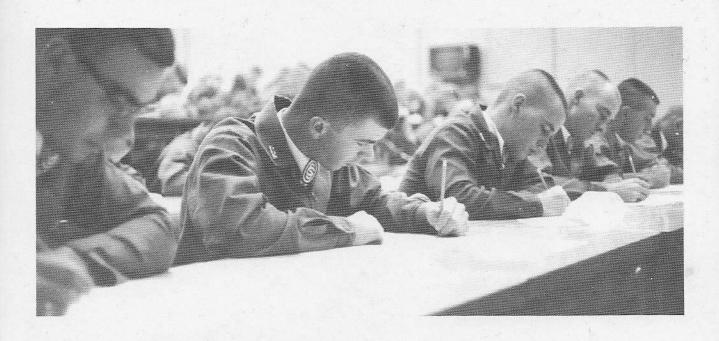

River Crossing Techniques

River crossings have long been among the most difficult of all combat movements Whether in the heat of summer or the frigid cold of winter, men and equipment have to be transported across these natural watery barriers. Crossing through near-freezing water, these OC's still remember that day as the coldest of the program.

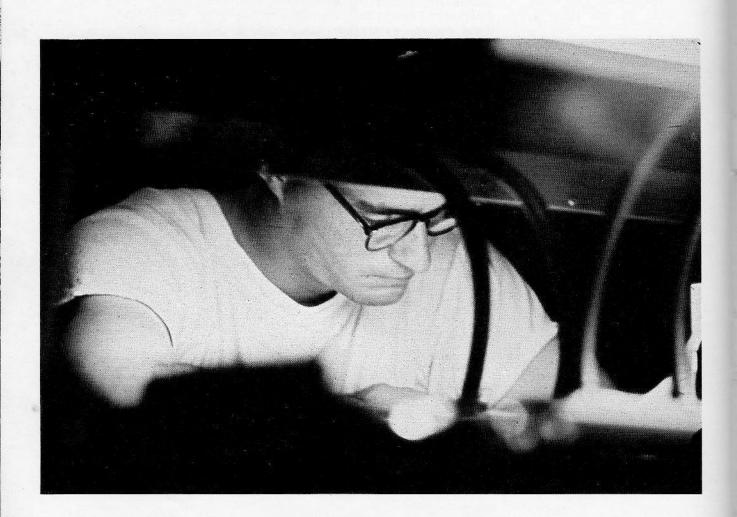

ACADEMICS

The attaining of professional knowledge enables the officer candidate to successfully assume the duties of a second lieutenant upon graduation. Thus, one of the principle duties of each candidate is to study, understand and retain the instruction presented. Study time is alloted each day in the evenings. During this time the officer candidate prepares for the following day's classes.

Class time comprises over seventy-five percent of the officer candidates' daily schedule, in which fundamentals, theories, and controlled problems are analyzed and learned. Later phases of instruction enable the Officer Candidate to demonstrate his acquired knowledge through practical exercise.

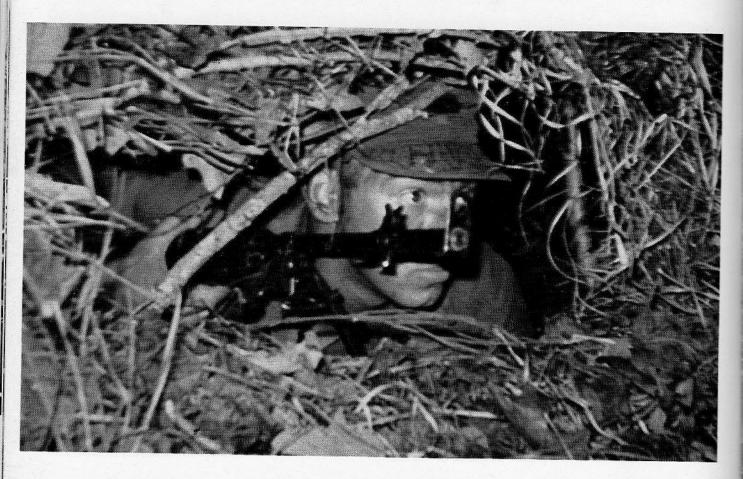

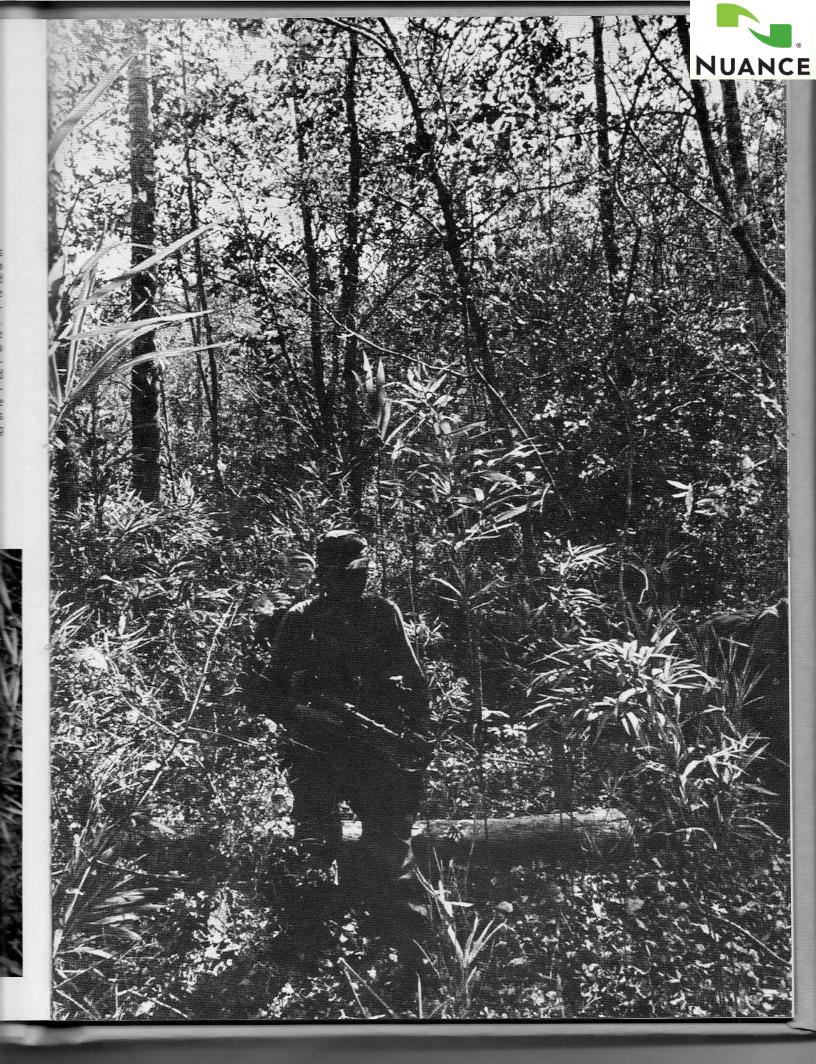

Ranger Problem

Counter-guerilla and patroling operations given by the Ranger department makes up a very vital portion of OCS. For five days and four nights the OC's trampled through the swamps and forests of Quitman County learning various techniques of small unit tactics. The bitter taste of water purified by iodine tablets and the rank taste of unwarmed lima beans still linger in the mouths of many dauntless OC's. Every night half of the men stayed awake to maintain security against the aggressors while the other half tried to sleep on the hard Georgian ground. Yet most of the OC's will readily admit that this training was among the best they received.

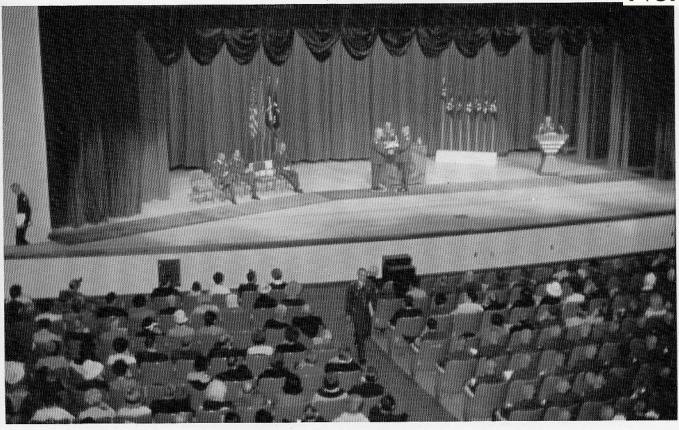

GRADUATION

ALMA MATER

Far across the Chattahoochee To the Upatoi Stands our loyal Alma Mater Benning's School for Boys.

Forward ever, Backward never Faithfully we strive To the ports of Embarkation Follow me with pride.

When it's time and we are called To guard our country's might We'll be there with head held high To lead in Freedom's fight.

Yearning ever, Failing never To keep our country free The call is clear, we meet the task For we are Infantry.

OCS PRAYER

Almighty God, we who will soon become leaders of men, come to you for guidance in this awesome responsibility.

We pray for humility, O Lord, that any existing selfishness, arrogance, and vanity may be removed from our lives.

Grant us patience in dealing with the mistakes of our fellow Man. Let us never forget that no man is perfect, but that perfection for fragile humans is trying each day to be better than the day before.

Keep ever before us our goal, which is not to perpetrate war but to safeguard your greatest gift to man — Freedom.

Let us never forget our duty to the men whom we will lead. May we instill in them the qualities of honor, integrity, and duty.

Remind us that wisdom is not gained in an hour, a day, or a year. But that it is a process that continues all the days of our lives.

Give us courage, O Lord, in the face of danger. Keep us pure in Heart, clean in mind, and strong of purpose.

May you always be near, to guide us in our decisions, comfort us in our failures, and keep us humble in our successes.

We ask your devine blessings as we continue to prepare for the great honor of serving our country.

Walk close to us always, Our Father, that we may not fail.

Finally Senior Status . . . Smack Turns Blue!

At 0001 hours on 26 July 1969, the officer candidates of 62d Company, Officer Candidate Class No. 28-69, turned blue.

The new Senior Candidates of 62d Co. donned freshly-starched khakis, white gloves and spit-shined boots for their Senior Status Review.

Col. Robert M. Piper, commander of The Candidate Brigade, reviewed the company and then watched as 62d Co. passed before the reviewing stand.

Col. and Mrs. Piper were guests of honor at a reception following the Senior Status Review. Also present for the reception was the 6th Student Battalion commander, Lt. Col. Grady W. Williams, with his wife, Mrs. Williams.

That night, senior candidates, their wives, dates and special guests celebrated 62d Company's new senior status with an evening of dining and dancing at the Officers' Club.

Special entertainment featured

Special entertainment featured "Smack Turns Blue." This was a series of cartoon slides created by SC Werlinich accompanied by music arranged by SC Huey and SC Kubly.

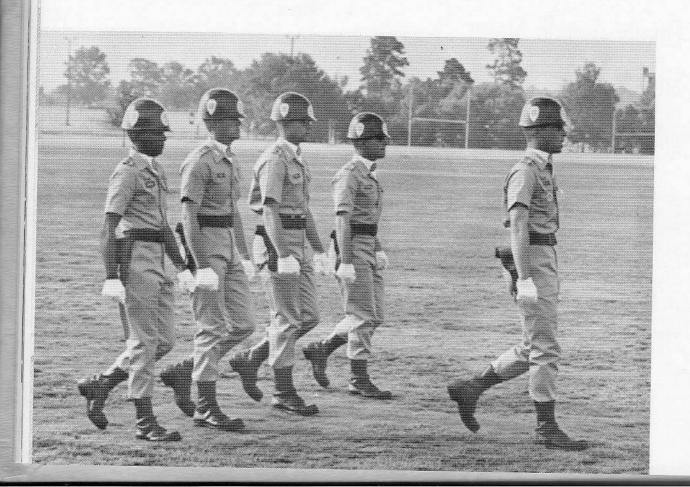

The entertainment was directed by SC O'Rourke. SC Brennan was in charge of arrangements for the evening reception, dinner and dance.

Col. Piper was the principal speaker.

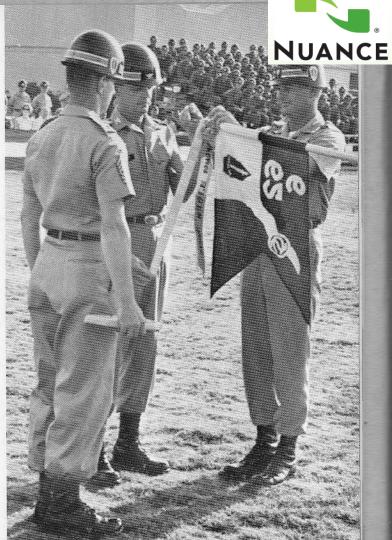

In perfect step, the student battalion staff passes in review during the Senior Status Review. Heading the staff is SC Henry followed by (left to right) SC Franklin, SC Sink, SC Toelke and SC Harvard. Senior candidates from 62d Co. also carried the colors during the review. From left to right, the color guard includes SC Vishner, SC Mulligan, SC Lund and SC Hiensch.

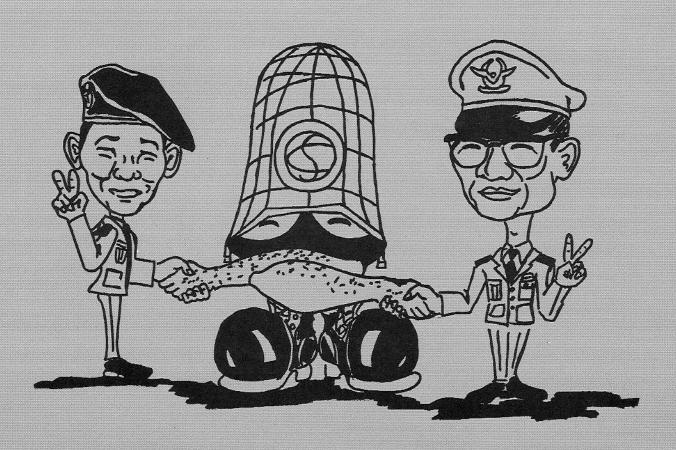

TIGER TACTICS

Tiger Tactics one day and Senior Status the next. Officer candidates of 62d Co. received the two most important awards in The Candidate Brigade on two successive days, 25 July and 26 July.

SENIOR STATUS

62d Co. Becomes "Friendship Company"

Imagine being sent to a military training center in a strange land 8,000 miles from home. Imagine trying to converse intelligently in a strange tongue?

This was the situation in which 17 South Vietnamese officers found themselves. These junior officers in the Army of the Republic of Vietnam were sent to the United States Infantry School to learn the techniques used in Infantry Officer Candidate School that might be applied to Vietnam's own OCS.

The native American candidates worked hard to make their Vietnamese counterparts feel "at home." The hand of friendship was extended—and accepted.

The Vietnamese officer candidates shared their heritage with the American OC's, and at the same time, learned many American customs.

The Student Council and the Honor Council are the two most important groups in Officer Candidate School as far as OC's are concerned. The Student Council (top photo) was headed by (front row, left to right) — SC Franklin, vice-president; SC Mulligan, president; and SC Wheaton, secretary-treasurer. Student Council representatives include (back row, left to right) SC Henry, SC Van Dam, SC Fourie, SC Bailey, SC Abbott and SC Huey. The Honor Council members in the bottom photo include (top row) SC Powell, SC Johnson, SC Rudy (bottom row), SC MacLaughlin, SC Harris, SC Kubly (president) and SC Rahe.

LT. COL. GRADY W. WILLIAMS Commanding Officer, 6th Student Battalion

CPT. JAMES C. GORDAY Commanding Officer, 62d Co.

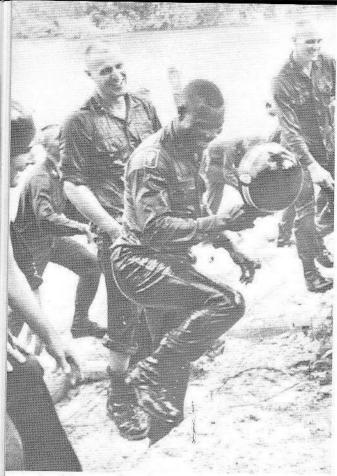

2LT. ARTHUR HOLMES Executive Officer

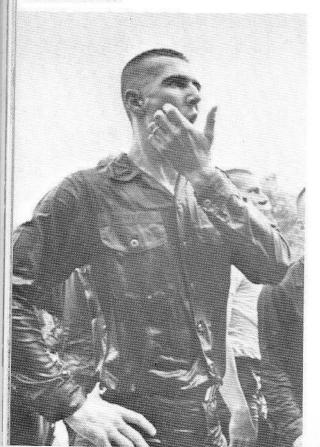

I told you yo's-yo's it wouldn't wash off!

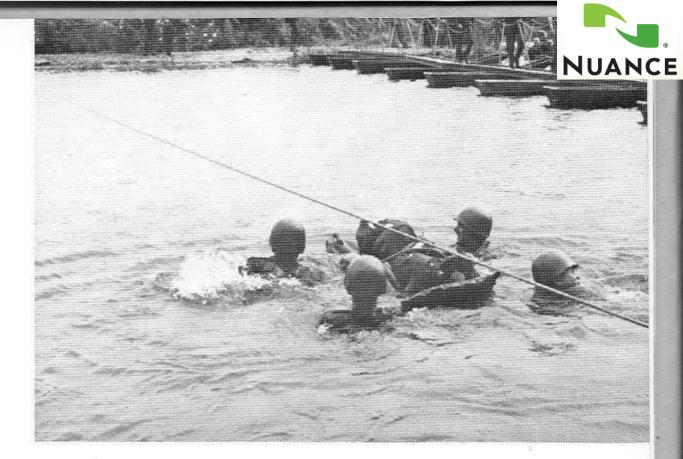

Do you think she will loose her suit again on this dive too!

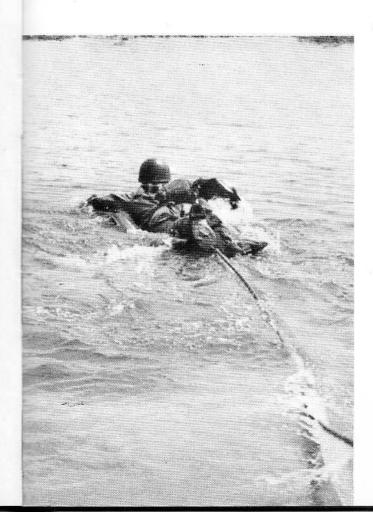

62d Gets
In The Swim;
Tacs All Wet!

Alright, who took my rubber duck!?

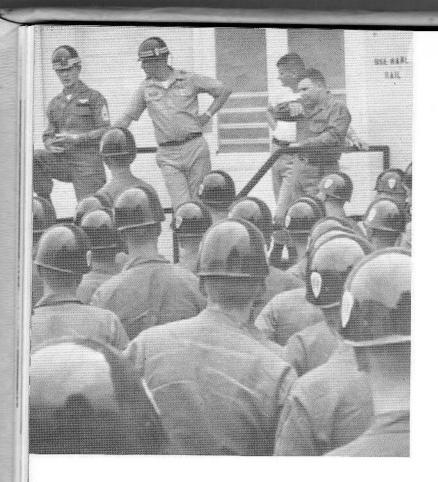

River Crossing Operations — A class looked forward to by all, provided some interesting instruction as well as a chance to cool off. The candidates get a chance to put into action what they have learned. Mooring safety lines, fourman equipment rafts, and of course an Australian poncho raft.

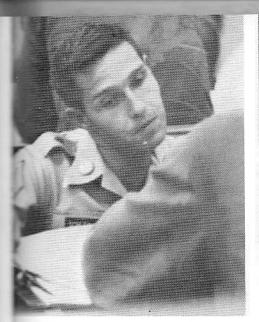

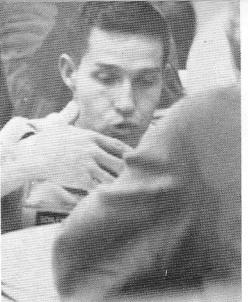

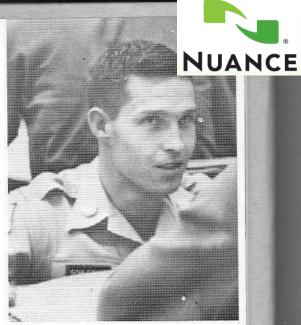

62d Trains To Become Officers

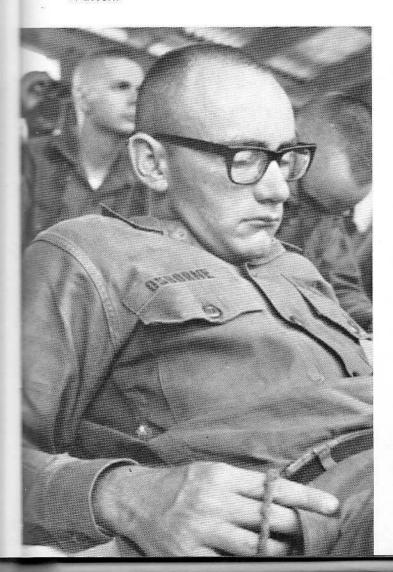

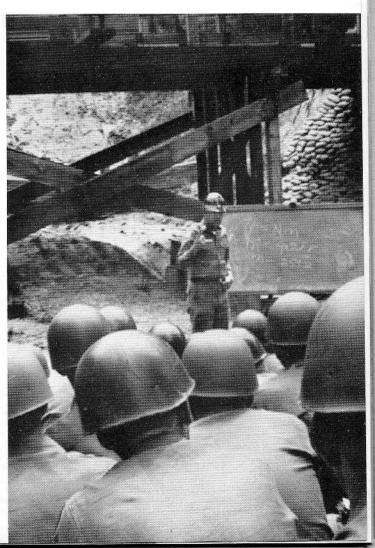

Classes sometimes get a bit much for even the most able. An instructor attempts to clear the befuddled candidate mind on a mortar problem. In fact things pile up so much that a guy has to catch a few winks when he can so he won't forget all of those bridge classification formulaes that were given to him by Cpt. Masson.

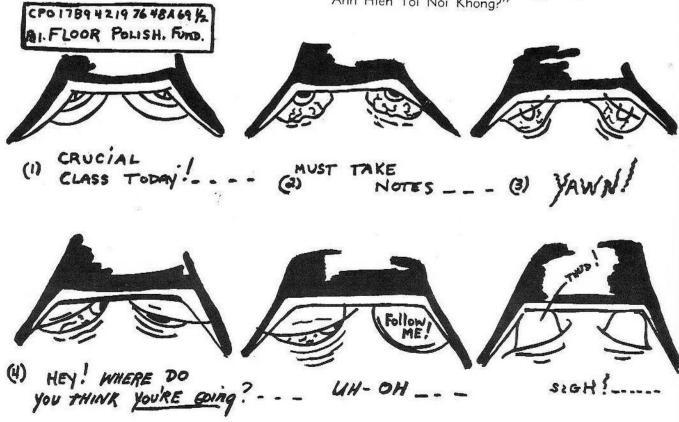

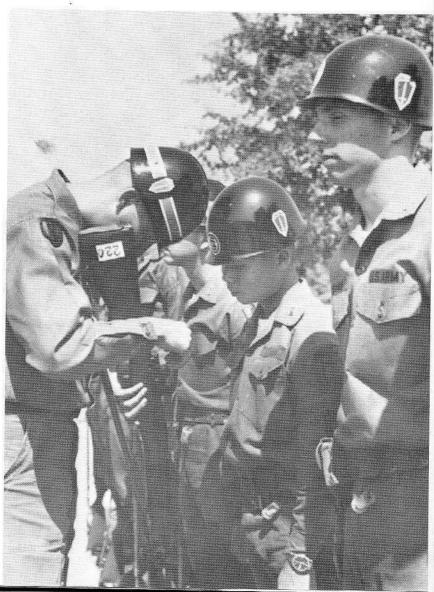

62d Company was fortunate to have seventeen allied candidates join us in the rigorous class schedule that is an integral part of an OC's life. Candidate Trung tests an instructor's language ability as he seems to be asking, "Cac Anh Hien Toi Noi Khong?"

Many long hot hours of work for a one time shot at the top — The Drill Team is presenting a Queen Ann salute, in ripple during it's creative portion of the competition. — The Army lives on inspections, all kinds of them and OCS is no different. The company commander, Cpt. Gorday, inspects Candidate Tuyen's weapon as Candidate Treakle awaits the same fate.

KEE-MON, Kee-MON, LE'S 90 OUT THERE, YA CHICKEN, Kee-MON FIGHT ACCROSS THE OL'BAG HERE, LE'S 60, LE'S 90, BLAH BLAH BLAH BLAH BLAH.

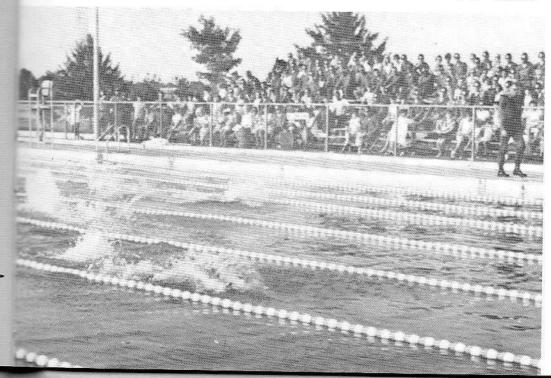

Ready . . Set ..

Officer candidates of the 62d Co. took the initiative to establish an intrabattalion softball schedule, a cadre-candidate basketball game and a battalion swim meet. The 62d Co. won the swim meet against some topnotch competition from other companies in the battalion. All the sporting events gave 62d a chance to relax and enjoy the sporting events as participants and spectators.

... Go!

Get down, Smack! On your back, on your belly, blah, blah, . . . Smack!

So goes the seemingly endless rattle of the tactical officer—so much in fact, that in the early stages of the "Program" morale dived to all-time new lows, unless the candidates learned to keep a good sense of humor and drive on.

This was the status of 62d Company about the fourth week.

What can be done to remedy such a situation? Officer Candidate Tom Werlinich had what he thought might be the answer and consulted members of his platoon about his newly-created "Smack."

And so began the best kept secret since the Manhattan Project.

Smack became the symbol of all downcast OC's—a pitiful looking figure with a pair of eyeballs staring from under a huge helmet liner, size 15 jump boots and stubby hairy arms giving it everything he had despite seemingly insurmountable obstacles.

He went where the OCs went—to the ranges panting for ice cream privileges and walking tours for every reason under the sun along with the best of them, including Mulligan, Franklin and West.

He watched most of the company go on pass while he stayed behind because he was on restriction.

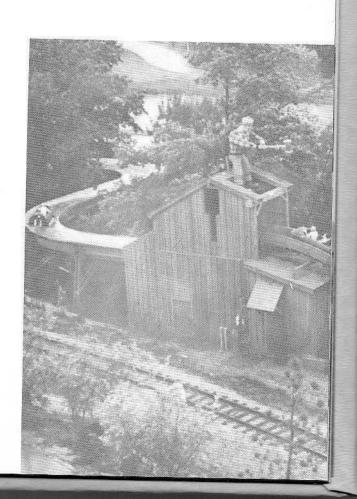

But in his finest hour, he became the feature attraction at the Senior Status Formal.

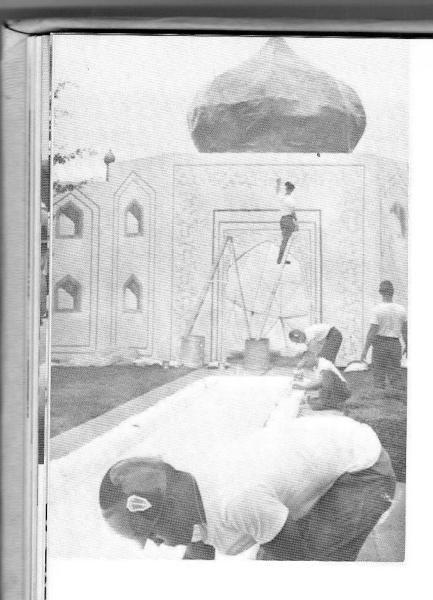

OCs Visit "Six Flags Over Georgia"

OCS is not all work and no play, even if it seems that way. Our first off-post came on a rainy Sunday as 62d Company invaded Six Flags Over Georgia — Rain could not dampen the spirits of anyone — on the bus candidates and their tactical officers joined in song — while at the park Lt. Goldberg relates some "war" stories to eager ears — the log jam provided a wef and thrilling ride.

12th Week Party Successful

It takes all kinds to make an army suc-It takes all kinds to make an army successful, so it was with work on the twelfth week party. Carpenters, artists, laborers, masons, engineers, painters and singers all combined to make the Taj Mahal, complete with reflection pool, one silver throated arab, disguised cleverly as Candidate "Wap-Wap" Huey. Out of doors was not the only place that took on a new look Candidate Werlinich displayed his outstanding ability providing a new mural for the mess hall depicting India's Taj Mahal.

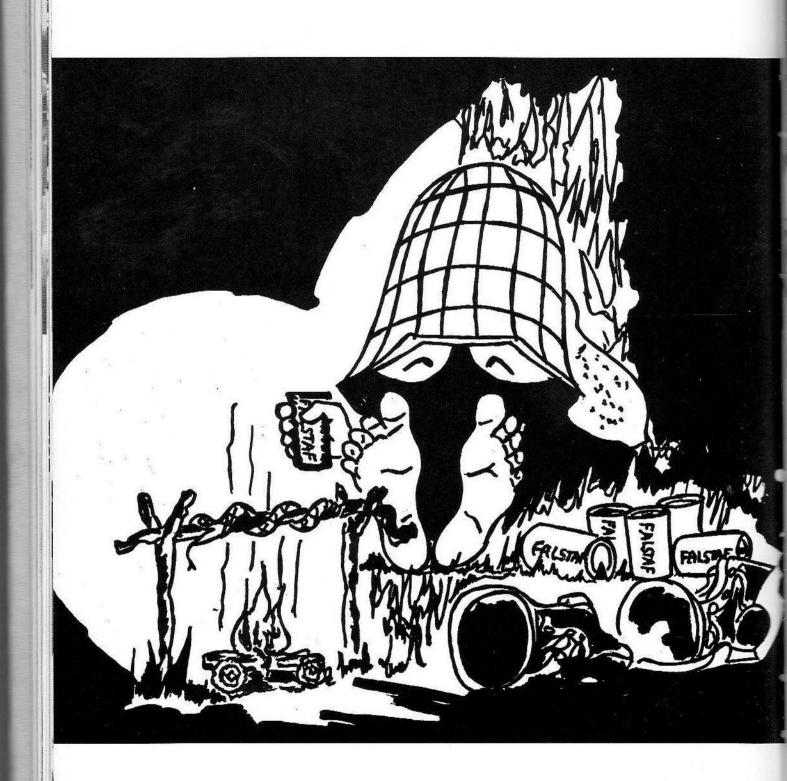

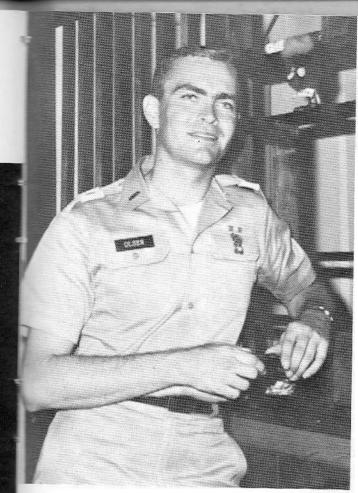

The twelfth week party provided the opportunity for some of the more talented candidates and candidate's wives to display their talents to the delight of all present. The "Please sir don't make me do push-ups" number expressed the feelings of the candidates and offered a humorous look at OC life. While the combined chorus rounded out the entertainment nicely.

2LT. DAVID A. OLSEN Tactical Officer

First Platoon

MacArthur Barnes

Henry L. Berchak

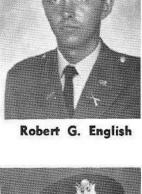

Tran Viet Coung

Jimmie L. Downing

Philip K. Fricke

Ronald J. Johnson

Michael J. Kennedy

Candidate Fourie takes careful aim with the 90 mm recoilless rifle as Candidate Parks checks the back blast area.

Le Dinh Khai

Ho Van Kinh

Burdette D. Parks

Peter D. Power

Richard C. Reiswig

Joseph R. Ryan

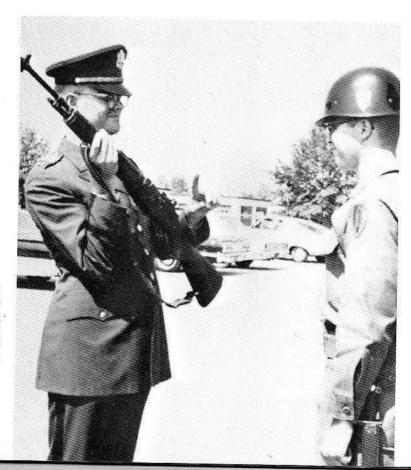

Sergei Siletzky

William R. Thomas

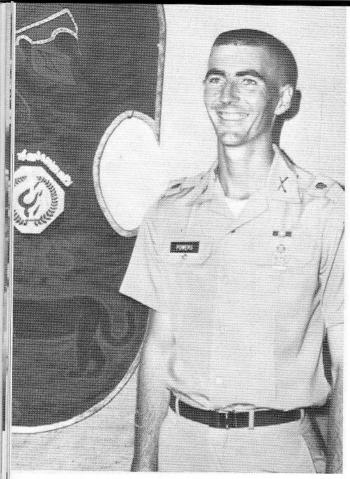

Paul A. West, Jr.

Nothing like kicking a man when he is down — give him a class II, make him walk tours — then do it all over again because you found dust in his weapon — love every minute of it!

2LT. GARY P. POWERS Tactical Officer

Second Platoon

Bruce E. Atchison

Mark A. Bailey

Frederick R. Bauman

Warren T. Brennan, Jr.

Donald R. Bryant

James P. Campbell

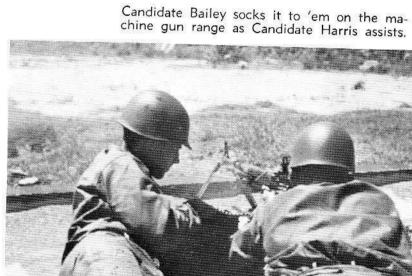

Robert C. Cook

Ralph M. Dorough

Steven J. Fuller

Samuel Y. Harris

Robert G. Hartman

Robert G. Kaptain

Nguyen Ba Khoi

Vu Van Le

Arnold E. Lizakowski

Le Dinh Long

D. C. Lovelace, Jr.

See Candidate Privett smile. See Lt. Rufty smile. Who says OCS is a bunch of harrassment.

Robert R. Mason

Timothy J. McGreevy

Steven S. Plice

Robert G. Privett

Thomas E. Rowell

Thomas J. Reinecke

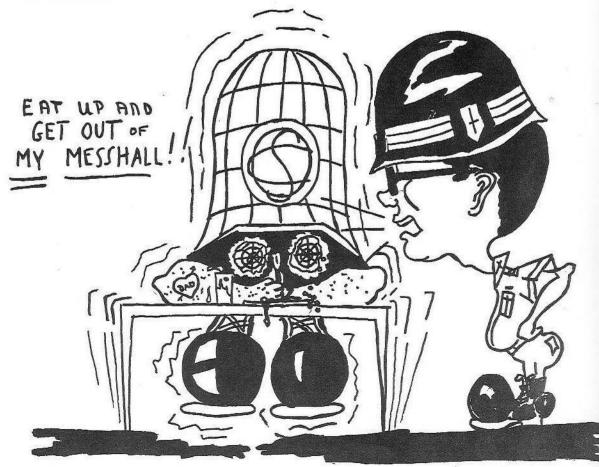

Third Platoon

John C. Abbott

James A. Adams, Jr.

Lewis B. Arnold

Robert O. Brewster

Frederick W. Coleman

Richard H. Cook

Duane O. Crawford

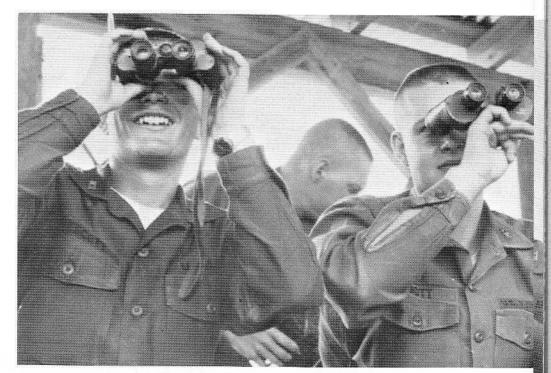

John S. Davidson

Mark V. Drewicz

Edward W. Eskola, Jr.

Candidates Prescott and Abbott manage to get things turned around on the mortar adjustment range. Turn them over Dufuss!

Van K. Flanagan

Steven J. Ivaniszyn

Michael F. Jambor

Richard A. Jones

H. M. MacLaughlin, Jr.

John J. Messina

Nguyen Hai Nam

Gene T. Nelson

Russell L. Osborne

David V. Owen

David T. J. Pollard

Robert W. Powell

Michael E. Prescott

Ralph M. Rodheim

William V. Smith

Nguyen Van Thanh

Richard R. Thurow

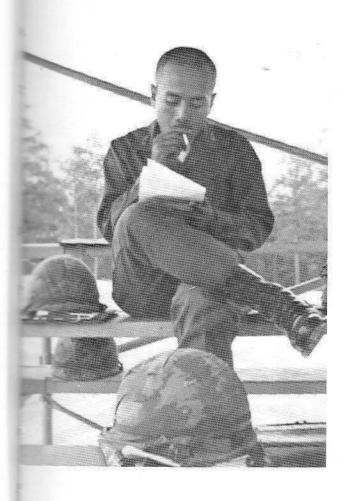

Thomas S. Werlinich

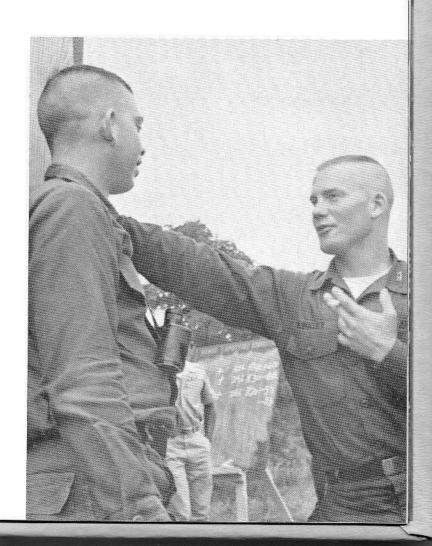

Gerard Wilson

Douglas C. Winkley

Candidate Thanh gets a quick smoke as he makes the best use of time available—while candidates Winkley and Messina try and out do each other with war stories.

Fourth Platoon

2LT. JOE H. RUFTY Tactical Officer

Lawrence H. Allen

Craig B. Boswell

Alessandro A. Bruni

Richard Cravey

Robert E. Cribbs, Jr.

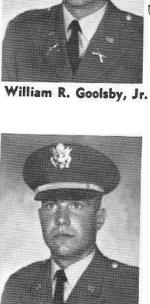

Bui Duy Diep

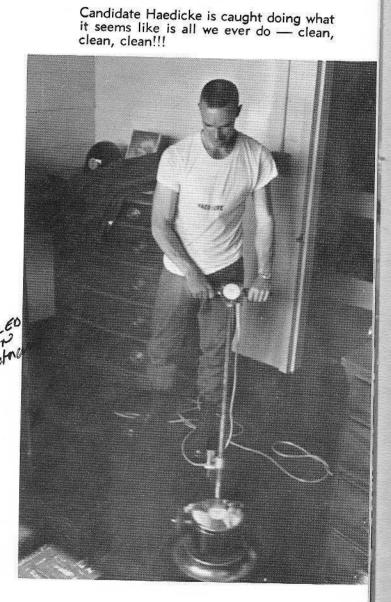

Thomas W. Gately

Robert A. Hall

David H. Haedicke

James J. Hinchey, Jr.

Robert J. Huey

David A. Ivory 9 07 PASSED AWAY 3 9 07

Robert O. Johnston

Warren B. Larson

Moses Mims, Jr.

Emmett P. O'Callaghan

Pat F. O'Rourke

Candidate Rudy gives the Ranger Committee a thrill as he negotiates the obstacle course.

Robert T. Rudy

Thomas J. Strauss

Bui Thanh Tan

Nguyen Van Thong

Kirby L. Throckmorton

Ralph L. Wheaton, III

Donald F. Wiseman

Fifth Platoon

Patrick A. Alia

Richard F. Baldwin

Van H. Barnes, Jr.

Hugh M. Black

James E. Davis, Jr.

Ralph C. Driggers, Jr.

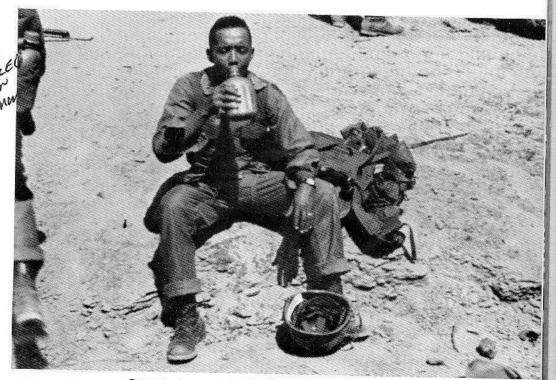

Alan L. Eggert

Allen R. Franklin

Robert A. Harrison

Georgia has got to be the hottest place above or below the earth as 62d's 'Lone Ranger' can testify, too.

John D. Hiensch

Peter E. Landon

Victor F. Lawson

David H. Leslie

Alan M. Leventhal

John P. Luzis, Jr.

Peter R. Mackin

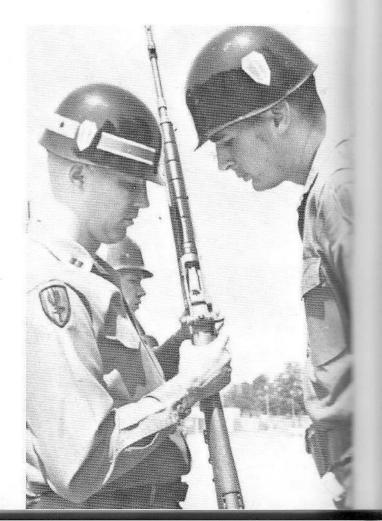

Wayne F. Morys

Robert A. Mulligan

Terrance M. Rahe

John L. Sullivan

Joseph C. Thomas, III

James E. Treakle, Jr.

Phan Nhu Trung

Nguyen Van Tuong

Nguyen Van Tuyen

James L. Van Dam

Dean M. Westerhouse

Passed Away June 17, 2010

Picture Not Available Alfred E. Nichols

2LT. MARC L. GOLDBERG Tactical Officer

Sixth Platoon

Larry Alt

Frank J. Bubb

Donald A. Bullerman

Gregory S. Bruno

Le Huu Duc

Jon Goebel

P. K. Harkey, Jr.

Peter Harvard

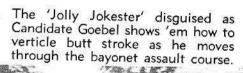

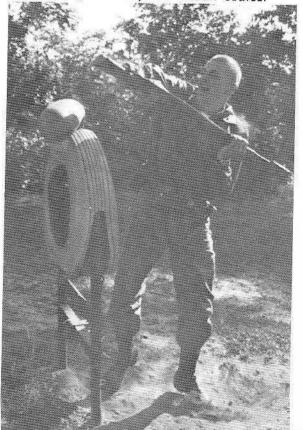

Robert J. Henry

Gerald L. Kubly

Nguyen The Khanh

John Kupris

Dao Van La

Ronn Lund

Bernard Madison

Thomas Moreken

Dean Parkman

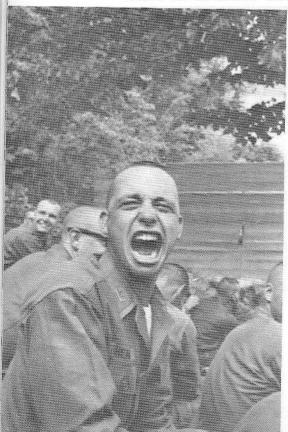

Douglas Philipp

William Powell

Tiger tactics was our goal — OC Bad Mouth was our leader — we made it! Candidate Kubly as his

No Picture Available William Toelke

William Thomason

Walter Wolfe

It was post privileges or bust! — Balloons, Balloons, thousands of them in the company commander's office — well we got our post privileges alright — after the balloons were removed and taken to the day room one by one the long way — all the way around the building by the student council — namely candidates Mulligan, Wheaton, Van Dam, and Abbott — at least in this picture anyway.

